Morning

St. Mark's Square

St. Mark's Square is unique among European city squares. It is located in the city center, but it is not as noisy as other squares, thanks to the quiet water traffic in Venice. As a landmark of Venice, it is favored by tourists, photographers and even pigeons. There is a circle of exquisite Renaissance-style buildings on the edge of the square. St. Mark's Basilica, the Mint, and the Doge's Palace are located on the east side of the square. On the south side are the bell tower and the new and old parliament buildings. Climbing the bell tower, you can overlook the entire square.

Church of Saint Mark

The Church of St. Mark is a Serbian Orthodox church located in the Tašmajdan park in Belgrade. It was built in the Serbo-Byzantine style by the Krstić brothers and was completed in 1940. It was completed on the site of a previous church dating back to 1835. Today, it is one of the largest churches in the country.

Bridge of Sighs

The Bridge of Sighs is a Baroque-style stone bridge located on the side of the Doge's Palace. It is one of the most famous bridges in Venice. It is a sealed arch bridge building, and you can only look out through the small windows on the bridge. The two ends of the bridge connect the court and the prison. Death row prisoners pass through this bridge before execution and sigh about their impending life, hence the name "Bridge of Sighs". The current Bridge of Sighs is the bridge in the movie "Bridge of Sighs" where the exiled hero and heroine promised each other for life at sunset, thus sweeping away its gloomy and ominous atmosphere.

Venice Gondola Rides

Venice is a very unique city, with water as the entrance and the river as the street. Apart from buildings and squares, there is almost no land in the city. The unique Venetian gondola has a unique name - "gondola". This light, slender, and uniquely shaped boat has a history of more than a thousand years. It has always been a means of transportation for Venetians living on the lagoon.

Morning

Colosseum

The Colosseum is the iconic symbol of Imperial Rome and one of Rome's most popular tourist attractions! It is an oval amphitheater located in the center of the city of Rome and east of the Roman Forum. It is the largest ancient amphitheater ever built and is still the largest standing amphitheater in the world today.

Arch of Constantine

The Arch of Constantine, located on the west side of the Colosseum, is 25.7 meters long, 7.4 meters wide, and 21 meters high. It has three arches with exquisite sculptures and is magnificent. It was built to commemorate Constantine the Great's victory over Emperor Maxentius and the unification of the Roman Empire. There were 21 triumphal arches in ancient Rome, but only three remain in Rome today. The Arch of Constantine is one of them, and the other two are located in the Roman Forum.

Il Vittoriano

The Vittoriano Monument to the Unification of Italy (Il Vittoriano), also known as the Victor Emmanuel II Monument, is located on Piazza Venezia, Rome's largest square. Completed in 1911, it commemorates the unification of Italy and the patron saint of King Vittorio Emanuele II. Due to its shape and color, it has been nicknamed the "Wedding Cake" or "Typewriter." This neoclassical white marble structure took 25 years to complete. Its most striking feature is its curved facade, formed by 16 columns, which combines grandeur and sophistication.

Trevi Fountain

The Trevi Fountain is another magnificent location to visit on your trip to Italy! It is a fountain in the Trevi district in Rome. The proper throwing of coins into the Trevi fountain for good luck is a habit extremely common. In order to do so, you must place the coin in your right hand and toss it over your left shoulder!

Afternoon

Bagnoregio

The ancient city of Bagnoregio is said to be the prototype of Hayao Miyazaki's "Castle in the Sky", so it is also known as the "Castle in the Sky". The ancient city was built during the Etruscan civilization period. It is about 300 meters long and 200 meters wide. Because it is located on the top of volcanic tuff, it collapsed after several earthquakes. In the 19th century, it could only be connected to the outside world by a bridge about one kilometer long. The facade of the church is made of bright red, dark green and white marble, which are arranged into geometric shapes. It is very spectacular and fully interprets the classic, elegant and free spirit advocated by the Renaissance. It looks very solemn and exquisite from any angle. No wonder it is named "Madonna of the Flowers".

Basilica of the Holy Cross

The monumental baroque church dominates Krakowskie Przedmieście with its two high towers, and the sculpture of Christ carrying the cross standing in front of the entrance is one of the most recognizable sights in Warsaw. Look at the hand raised toward the sky and imagine what meaning this gesture could have for Varsovians along with the inscription "Sursum Corda" (lift up your hearts) when Poland was partitioned or under occupation.

Palazzo Vecchio (Old Palace)

Palazzo Vecchio, also known as the Old Palace, is located in Piazza del Comune. It was the town hall of the former Florentine Republic. The entrance of the building is decorated with the city emblem and a replica of Michelangelo's famous sculpture "David". After the capital was moved to Rome, it has continued to serve as the Florence City Hall to this day.
