Then visit the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM) with its distinctive architecture and murals. Finally, witness the early civilizations of the Americas at the National Museum of Anthropology and marvel at the achievements of the ancient Americans.

Itinerary:

Xochimilco (100 min) → University City (50 min) → National Museum of Anthropology (120 min)

All day

Xochimilco

Xochimilco is a UNESCO World Heritage Site located about 17 miles (28 km) south of the capital's historical center. The name comes from Nahuatl and means "flower garden." Xochimilco provides an experience that you would never expect to have in Mexico City and makes for a fun and interesting day trip.

National Autonomous University of Mexico

More than just a university campus, Ciudad Universitaria is a living testament to 20th-century modernism. Architects Mario Pani and Enrique del Moral meticulously crafted a space where urban planning, architecture, engineering, landscape design, and fine arts merge into a harmonious symphony. In 2007, UNESCO recognized Ciudad Universitaria as a World Heritage Site, acknowledging its embodiment of universal social and cultural values and solidifying its status as one of Latin America's most iconic symbols of modernity.

National Museum of Anthropology

El Museo Nacional de Antropología (Mexico National Museum of Anthropology) is a world-class museum, and one of the best places to start understanding Mexico's long and complex indigenous history, covering early Mesoamerican, Toltec, Mayan and Aztec civilisations.

Day 3

Parroquia de San Miguel Arcángel, Mexico - Vehicle - Guanajuato, Mexico

All day

Depart Mexico City early in the morning and arrive in San Miguel, a World Heritage Site, around noon. Its outstanding Mexican Baroque religious and civic architecture has become a favorite destination for art lovers, the most famous of which is the Pink Church. Arrive in Guanajuato in the afternoon, after checking in at the hotel, proceed to Monumento al Pipila, which is the most worthy and must-see attraction in Guanajuato, standing on the top of the hill and looking at all of Guanajuato from afar, the scenery in front of you can't help but amaze, just like a painter accidentally spilling all kinds of paints.

Itinerary:

Mexico City → San Miguel → Pink Church Plaza (30 min) → Guanajuato → Hotel check-in → Monumento al Pipila (45 min)

All day

Parroquia de San Miguel Arcangel

San Miguel's most famous sight is its parish church, characterized by its pink 'wedding cake' towers that soar above the town. These strange pinnacles were designed by indigenous stonemason Zeferino Gutiérrez in the late 19th century. He reputedly based the design on a postcard of a Belgian church and instructed builders by scratching plans in the sand with a stick. The rest of the church dates from the late 17th century.

Monumento al Pipila

Guanajuato is probably our favourite place in Mexico. Steeped in mining history and situated in a glorious valley, it's a colourful and vibrant city that's best explored on foot, and appreciated from one of its many viewpoints. Day 4

Guanajuato, Mexico - Vehicle - Mexico City

All day

After breakfast, you will be taken on a tour of the World Heritage town of Guanajuato. The whole town is connected by underground tunnels, which were once mines and are now underground roads. Above ground, the town is a typical European colonial style town, but it is also a famous art city in Mexico. Many famous painters, sculptors, and potters have been trained at the San Miguel Academy of Fine Arts, which has created this colorful town.

Itinerary:

Guanajuato City Tour (180 minutes, including Union Gardens, Basílica de Nuestra Señora de Guanajuato, Juarez Theater, Kissing Alley, Traditional Market of Hidalgo, University of Guanajuato) → Mexico City

All day

Callejón del Beso

Tucked away behind the Plaza de Los Angeles, the skinny gap between buildings that has come to be known as El Callejon del Beso, or the Alley of the Kiss, is not greatly different from a number of other tight alleyways throughout the packed city. It is a sloping passage that only has room for one or two people standing shoulder to shoulder between the towering orange buildings on either side. Overhead, window ledges and small plant boxes dangle, making for a rather lovely urban gorge.

Basílica de Nuestra Señora de Guanajuato

The attractive orange-yellow Basílica de Nuestra Señora de Guanajuato contains a jewel-covered image of the Virgin, patron of Guanajuato. The wooden statue was supposedly hidden from the Moors in a cave in Spain for 800 years. Felipe II of Spain gave it to Guanajuato in thanks for the wealth it provided to the crown. Next door, the small Galería Mariana is dedicated to images of Mary and other Catholic relics.

University of Guanajuato

Guanajuato, since the early years of the Spanish colonization of Mexico, has always been a centre of education and study. Guanajuato is a young lively city that has a vibrant social atmosphere and these characteristics originated from the large student population which attends the renowned university. The main campus building of Guanajuato University is a block to the north from the Basilica of Guanajuato and here students can be found all day loitering on the many steps to the main entrance wait for lessons.

Day 5

Paseo de la Reforma, Mexico - Vehicle - Teotihuacán, Mexico - Vehicle - Plaza de la Constitución, Mexico

All day

Mexico City, a welcoming, vibrant city steeped in millennia of civilization. In the morning, walk along the famous Paseo de la Reforma to admire the formal architecture and monumental statues commemorating the history of Mexico and the Americas. Afterwards, proceed to Teotihuacán, known as the "place where the gods made man", to climb the Pirámide del Sol and look out over the Path of the Dead and the Pirámide de la Luna, with a view of the entire spectacular ruins area. Afternoon to the Basílica de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe, then stop by the Palace of Fine Arts to take pictures, and finally to the Plaza de la Constitución, the plaza is like the heart of Mexico, leading Mexico to beat.

Not far from the square are the ruins of the majestic Templo Mayor and the construction of the Catedral Metropolitana. The plaza is also surrounded by historic Spanish colonial buildings. This reflects the busy life of the city.

Itinerary:

Paseo de la Reforma → Monumento a la Independencia (photo stop) → Piramide de la Serpiente Emplumada (120 min) → Basílica de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe (60 min) → Biblioteca Vasconcelos (inside for 15 min) → Palacio de Bellas Artes (exterior, 20 min) → Plaza de la Constitución (2 hrs., incl. visit to Cathedral of the Bishop, exterior of the National Palace, exterior of the ruins of the Great Temple, etc.)

Paseo de la Reforma

One of Mexico City's principal thoroughfares is Paseo de la Reforma. The original avenue was built by the Emperor Maximilian as a route from his residence at Chapultepec Castle to the National Palace in the city center, where the affairs of government were conducted. Its original name was Paseo de la Emperatriz, in honor of Carlota who, it would appear, made a good deal of the decisions at the castle.

Following the defeat of Maximiliano, the name of the avenue was changed to Reforma, in honor of the reforms carried out under President Benito Juárez.

Teotihuacán

The holy city of Teotihuacan ('the place where the gods were created') is situated some 50 km north-east of Mexico City. Built between the 1st and 7th centuries A.D., it is characterized by the vast size of its monuments – in particular, the Temple of Quetzalcoatl and the Pyramids of the Sun and the Moon, laid out on geometric and symbolic principles. As one of the most powerful cultural centres in Mesoamerica, Teotihuacan extended its cultural and artistic influence throughout the region, and even beyond.

Basílica de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe

A cult developed around this site after a Christian convert named Juan Diego claimed in December 1531 that the Virgin Mary appeared before him on the Cerro del Tepeyac (Tepeyac Hill). After numerous sightings, so the story goes, the lady's image was miraculously emblazoned on Diego's cloak, causing a bishop to believe the story and build a shrine in her honor. To this day the basílica remains a place of pilgrimage and worship.

Biblioteca Vasconcelos

The world is teeming with stunning libraries, but precious few manage to seamlessly cater to design, the people, and history in such an admirable manner as Mexico City's Biblioteca Vasconcelos. Located in the Buenavista area in the north of Mexico City, the massive Biblioteca Vasconcelos was designed by Alberto Kalach and completed in 2007 after three consecutive years of building. This temple of knowledge is generally referred to as a "megalibrary" both for its size and the undeniable sense of import conveyed by the structure itself.

Palacio de Bellas Artes

Construction on the iconic building began in 1905 under Italian architect Adamo Boari, who favored neoclassical and art nouveau styles. Complications arose as the heavy marble shell sank into the spongy subsoil, and then the Mexican Revolution intervened. Architect Federico Mariscal eventually finished the interior in the 1930s, utilizing the more modern art deco style. With art nouveau on the outside and art deco on the inside, the Palacio de Bellas Artes (Palace of Fine Arts) is considered one of the most spectacular buildings from this era.

Plaza de la Constitución

The heart of Mexico City is the Plaza de la Constitución. Residents began calling it the Zócalo, meaning 'base,' in the 19th century, when plans for a major monument to independence went unrealized, leaving only the pedestal. Measuring 220m from north to south, and 240m from east to west, it's one of the world's largest city squares.
