Mausoleum of the First Qin Emperor

Located at the northern foot of Lishan Mountain, 35 kilometers northeast of Xi'an, Shaanxi Province, Qinshihuang Mausoleum is the tomb of Emperor Qinshihuang, founder of the first unified empire in Chinese history during the 3rd century BCE. As the tomb of the first emperor who unified the country, it is the largest in Chinese history, with a unique standard layout and has a large number of exquisite objects. It testifies to the founding of the first unified empire- the Qin Dynasty. The grave mound, sites of constructions, burial tombs and burial pits in Qinshihuang Mausoleum truthfully maintain their original location, material, formation, technology and structure, which authentically reflect the constricting regulation of the Mausoleum and palace life along with military systems of the Qin Dynasty. The numerous unearthed cultural relics reflect the highest technical level of pottery, chariot assembly, metallurgy, and metal processing in the Qin Dynasty.

Huaqing Palace

Huaqing Palace, also known as Huaqing Hot Springs, is a well-known historic site and an AAAAA tourist attraction of China. It gets its fame for being the place where the romantic story of Emperor Tangxuanzong of Tang Dynasty (618-907) and his beloved Yang Guifei (or Concubine Yang) took place.

As a matter of fact, the site had been as an imperial palace for emperors' short stays away from the capital for more than 3000 years. Emperors of Zhou, Qin, Han, Sui and Tang dynasties spent the winter at this place every year. Emperor Zhouyouwang of Western Zhou Dynasty (1046BC-771BC) is said to be the first emperor who ordered to build a palace at the site. In the following dynasties, the palace was repaired and expanded for several times, given the name of "Hot Spring Palace" and finally denominated "Huaqing Palace" by Emperor Tangxuanzong. The palace was constructed above hot springs, hence the site is also called "Huaqing Hot Springs".

Morning

Xi'an Ming Dynasty City Wall

"Xi'an Ming City Wall is the largest and most complete ancient city wall in China. It is one of the first batch of national key cultural relics protection units and a national AAAAA tourist attraction. It continues the historical context of the entire ancient capital Chang'an and is known for its unique Charm blooms her magnificence, magnificence and breadth to the world, and shows the world the depth, wisdom and inclusiveness of the ancient capital.

Xi'an Bell and Drum Tower, located in the center of Xi'an, covers an area of 60,000 square meters, second only to Tiananmen Square in Beijing. This was once the seat of the Shangshu Province in the prosperous Tang Dynasty, and it was the highest administrative organ that carried out national government affairs at that time. On the east side stands the 600-year-old Bell Tower, and on the west side stands the largest Drum Tower in the country. As night falls, the lights of the musical fountain, bell tower and drum tower light up together, which is very spectacular.

Huimin Street

Muslim Street of Xi'an, known as Huimin Jie as well by Chinese, is a Muslim community in the city. The district houses the architectures in the style of Ming and Qing dynasties. The Drum Tower is located in the south and memorial archway is located in the north, embracing many ancient courtyards as well as some 10 mosques in diverse sizes that built in different time. It is also where there are about 20,000 Muslims retaining their pristine religious tradition and lifestyle. Huimin Street is a famous "snack street" due to its rich delicious local Xi'an delicacies and typical Shaanxi snacks that are concentrated here. It attracts visitors home and abroad. This featured bluestone-paved old street is also the favorite haunt for locals because of the tastiest food and leisure atmosphere.

Afternoon

North Square of The Giant Wild Goose Pagoda

The North Square of the Big Wild Goose Pagoda was built in 589 AD. It is a famous square in Xi'an. There is Asia's largest musical fountain show every night. It is a good place for tourists and citizens to take a leisurely walk. Xuanzang, an eminent monk in the Tang Dynasty, once translated scriptures here. The Big Wild Goose Pagoda Square is located at the foot of the Big Wild Goose Pagoda, a world-famous Buddhist holy site. With the Big Wild Goose Pagoda as the center, it covers an area of nearly 1,000 acres. The overall design highlights the cultural spirit of the Big Wild Goose Pagoda, Ci'en Temple and the Tang Dynasty, and pays attention to humanized design.

Grand Tang Dynasty Ever-bright City

Grand Tang Dynasty Ever-bright City is located between the Giant Wild Goose Pagoda and Tang Paradise, full of Tang stylistic elements. Ever-bright City's Central Axis View Avenue is a 1,500-meter central and sculptured pedestrian street that runs from the north and south. It is surrounded by nine groups of themed groups such as the emperor, historical figures, heroic stories, and classic works of art, offering three-dimensional representations of the Tang Dynasty's supremacy in the fields of religion, art, science and technology and to highlight the great country.

The Yellow River Mother Sculpture

Located in the middle section of Binhe Road on the south bank of the Yellow River in Lanzhou, it is one of the most beautiful sculptures across the country that represents the Yellow River, the mother river of the Chinese nation. The sculpture was created by Ms. He E, a famous sculptor from Gansu Province. It is 6 meters long, 2.2 meters wide and 2.6 meters high, with a total weight of more than 40 tons. The composition is composed of "mother" and "baby boy", which respectively symbolize the nurturing of the Chinese nation. The restless and indomitable mother of the Yellow River, and the happy and thriving descendants of China. The lower base of the sculpture is engraved with water ripples and fish patterns, which are derived from the original patterns of ancient Gansu painted pottery.

The Lanzhou Iron Bridge of the Yellow River

The Yellow River Iron Bridge, also known as Zhongshan Bridge, is located in Chengguan District. It is one of the most important landmarks in Lanzhou and a must-visit place for tourists visiting Lanzhou. The iron bridge is more than two hundred meters long and seven or eight meters wide. It retains the black iron bridge body when it was built more than a hundred years ago and is very simple. During the repair process over the past century, five large iron arches were erected on the bridge, which is beautiful and impressive. At the bridge head on the south side of the iron bridge, there are three golden characters "Zhongshan Bridge" and an ancient stone tablet engraved with "The First Bridge of the Yellow River". Every day, many tourists come here to take photos as a souvenir of their visit to Lanzhou.

Dunhuang - Vehicle - Mogao Grottoes - Vehicle - Dunhuang

All day

Today, we will take you to visit Dunhuang. First, we will arrive at Mogao Grottoes. Dunhuang is an important town on the ancient Silk Road. Dunhuang Mogao Grottoes are one of the four famous grottoes in my country. They are also the largest and best-preserved Buddhist art treasure house in the world. The art treasures collected in Dunhuang Mogao Grottoes are treasures for Sino-foreign exchanges. People call Mogao Grottoes a pearl in Gansu. The Dunhuang murals have lifelike images, especially the "Flying Sky". After that, we came to the Crescent Spring and stood by the Crescent Spring in Dunhuang, as if we could hear the echo of the years. The spring water is clear, reflecting the blue of the sky like a mirror, making people intoxicated. The unique natural scenery is like a moving picture scroll, which makes people forget to leave.

Itinerary:

Mogao Grottoes

Mogao Grottoes, also known as Thousand Buddha Caves, are located on the southeast side of Dunhuang City. The grottoes were first built during the Sixteen Kingdoms period of the Eastern Jin Dynasty. The excavation of the grottoes took thousands of years until the end of the Yuan Dynasty. With a large number of murals, grottoes, cultural relics, etc. It is a world-famous Buddhist art destination. Here you can appreciate the large-scale and rich grottoes and mural art, and learn about the thousands of years of development history of Buddhism in Dunhuang through explanations and film shows.

Mingsha Mountain Crescent Spring

There are eye grass and charophyte plants growing in the Crescent Moon Spring, and there are dense reeds on the south bank. It is surrounded by quicksand, and it is not covered by the sand despite strong winds. It has become a wonder because "the sand will never fill the springs, and the springs will never dry up." Mingsha Mountain and Crescent Moon Spring are twin sisters in the Gobi Desert.

Devil City is also called Wuerhe Wind City. There is a unique wind-eroded landform with a strange shape. The local Mongolians call this city "Sulumhak". The Uyghurs call it "Shaytan Kersi", which means Devil City. It is one of the most typical Yadan landforms in the world. For thousands of years, strong winds have eroded the rocks like knives and axes, carving out all kinds of strange shapes. The Yadan landform is not unusual, but the Devil's City is unique in the world. Its strangeness lies in the shape of the wind-eroded rocks, which may be like a palace, a platform, a pavilion, or a castle, or a dreamy labyrinth world, or like people, birds, beasts, livestock, or a magnificent world... The wonder of nature Wonderful thoughts and mystery create one of the wonders of the world. The World Devil City is now one of the eight major film and television location shooting bases in China. More than 30 blockbusters such as "Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon", "Seven Swords" and "Heroes of Heaven and Earth" have been shot here. The "heroes" are among the strange peaks and rocks. In the vast Gobi desert, you can indulge in the interpretation of soaring pride, grievances and hatreds. The Devil City is a place where you can indulge in rivers and lakes and gallop freely.
